Helping Our Children Belong, Be and Become

Essential Early Years Conference Saturday September 11th 2010
Bull Creek Community Centre, Hassell Crescent, Bull Creek

“preparing our children for school and life”

This one day conference will focus on building awareness, understanding and practical skills for those who work with young children to better prepare our children for school, and later life. It will offer a stand alone day of professional development at the beginning of the year so that child carers, teachers and allied professionals can have an opportunity to up-skill and reinvigorate themselves before children begin the school year. There will be a focus on addressing the 5 outcomes of the National Early Years Learning Framework during the day.
For those who work with children under 8

Maggie Dent “Real Kids in an Unreal World.” In this session Maggie will explore her 10 resilience building blocks for building resilience and self esteem in today’s children. This holistic model resonates with those who work with children and Maggie will explore the “belonging, being and becoming” of children under 8.

Leonie Cecich “You Gotta Get Up”. Leonie from Kids ‘n’ Music will present an interactive music session using the fun and funky music from her You Gotta Get Up series - including material from her latest release You Gotta Get Up 4. Each song has focus on either occupational therapy, speech therapy, physiotherapy, psychology, yoga or kinesiology to help children be ready for school. www.kidsnmusic.com.au

Sue Hodges “Why Brain Gym Matters.” Sue will explore the background of “brain gym” from the field of educational kinesiology and show you how to support the best neuronal development of the children you work with. She will also give you tools to help students with poor brain integration – early – while the brain is still highly plastic, and she will turn your brain on too.

Sue Gamba “How Yoga Helps our Children.” Sue has just released her DVD called Beach Yoga and you will experience this delightful DVD as well as learn why this powerful gentle relaxation activity has a place in our centres and schools. We all need stress regulating systems to manage life and the younger we learn them the better. www.karmakidsyogawa.com.au
